This document is issued as an internal regulation of the University of Žilina in accordance with the provisions of Section 15 par. 1 (b) of the Act No.131/2002 Coll. on Higher Education and on Changes and Supplements to Some Laws, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "Higher Education Act") and in accordance with the provisions of Section 3 par. 2 (b) of the Act No. 269/2018 Coll. on Quality Assurance of Higher Education and on Amendments to the Act No. 343/2015 Coll. on Public Procurement and on Amendments to Certain Acts, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "Higher Education Quality Assurance Act").
2. The Statute of the Accreditation Board of the University of Žilina is an internal regulation of the University of Žilina (hereinafter referred to as "UNIZA"), which is a part of the internal quality assurance system at UNIZA (hereinafter referred to as the "IQAS UNIZA", in Slovak "VSK UNIZA").
3. This document establishes a comprehensive internal quality assurance system at the University of Žilina, with a view to fulfil the UNIZA mission and the UNIZA Long-Term Plan and achieving compliance of the UNIZA Internal Quality Assurance System with the Standards of the Slovak Accreditation Agency for Higher Education (hereinafter referred to as the "SAAHE").

Article 2 Basics of the Internal Quality Assurance System at UNIZA

1. In ensuring the quality of education, UNIZA builds on its previous long-standing experience and tradition. Systematic work on improving the quality of education at the faculties as well as at the institutes of the university-wide study programmes in the previous period used the implementation of quality management system standards according to the ISO 9001 standard, multiple implementation of the CAF model, creation of its own system supported by the formulation of policies, setting of objectives, evaluation of a set of factors and indicators, including the use of extensive surveys among the members of the UNIZA academic community (both employees and students), which served to gradually strengthen the quality culture.
2. The Standards of the Slovak Accreditation Agency for Higher Education effective from 1 September 2020 (hereinafter referred to as the "SAAHE Standards") provided a strong impetus to UNIZA in the field of quality assurance.
3. The development of the UNIZA Long-Term Plan fully respected the emerging trends in the field of quality assurance at higher education institutions, expressed in the relevant acts of law as well as in the standards and methodologies issued by the SAAHE. In the process of development of the UNIZA Long-Term Plan for the years 2021-2027, the mission of UNIZA, its vision, values, goals, and related indicators were defined with broad involvement of the members of the academic community. The UNIZA Long-Term Plan was approved by the UNIZA Academic Senate on 22 February 2021.

4. The structured internal quality assurance system at UNIZA was officially introduced by the Directive No. 113 on 2 December 2013. The system was functional, regular quality measurements were conducted and quality improvement measures were taken. Following the publication of the standards for the internal quality assurance system for education, an extensive analysis of the IQAS UNIZA was performed at UNIZA. The analysis was performed by internal UNIZA staff in managerial and executive positions, students, and partners from practice. Each of the criteria of the standard was subjected to an examination of its compliance with the existing state of quality assurance at UNIZA. The results of the analysis served as input to the review of the IQAS UNIZA.
5. In the approach to the review of the IQAS UNIZA, based on the results of the analysis, most attention was focused on reformulating policies, setting up processes, support structures and redesigning or elaborating documentation.
6. UNIZA continues to put a lot of effort into engaging the widest possible part of the academic community as well as external stakeholders in the form of external partners from practice to increase the likelihood of fulfilling the objectives and to improve the awareness of the quality assurance process among all UNIZA members and supporters, and to create an environment of trust that UNIZA is able to meet the ever-increasing demands placed on the quality of education.

Article 3

Commitment to Responsibility for the Quality of Education

1. By adopting this document, the UNIZA management and the entire academic community declare their primary responsibility for the quality of education and creative activities, the common sharing of UNIZA values expressed in policies, as well as the focus on achieving UNIZA quality objectives derived from the UNIZA quality assurance objectives and policies.
2. The main means for the fulfilment of the UNIZA's objectives is the IQAS UNIZA consisting of policies, processes and supporting structures. This system is perceived by UNIZA top management and staff as an integral part of UNIZA management. It is applied in UNIZA's day-to-day activities by adhering to specific rules and guidelines which are part of UNIZA's internal regulations.

Article 4

Perception of the Logic of the SAAHE Standards for the Internal Quality Assurance System at UNIZA

1. The IQAS UNIZA is elaborated in such a way that it is in compliance with all standards for the internal system issued by the SAAHE and at the same time that it respects the peculiarities of UNIZA and its workplaces as well as the objectives of UNIZA.
2. The basis of the IQAS UNIZA is the policies expressing the guiding principles that are in line with the values of UNIZA and provide the basic framework for setting objectives, processes, and structures.
3. The areas defined by the SAAHE Standards are developed at UNIZA into the life cycles of these key areas and are expressed by processes in a process map representing the backbone of the quality assurance at UNIZA (<https://adonis.uniza.sk:8443/>). The basic links between the areas are expressed in Figure 1, where "IS" with a number indicates a relevant SAAHE Standard for the Internal System (IS).

PART 2: POLICIES AND OBJECTIVES OF THE INTERNAL QUALITY ASSURANCE SYSTEM AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ŽILINA

Article 5

Purpose of the UNIZA policies

1. The purpose of formulating and publishing the UNIZA policies is to highlight the principles applied at UNIZA through various strategies, objectives, procedures, and rules. They are set up so that UNIZA expresses through the policies what guides its various quality assurance activities. Thus, they are not aimed at what is to be done or how exactly an activity is to be performed, but rather at providing a framework for setting rules and thus enabling UNIZA's objectives, processes, and structures to refer to the principles set out in the UNIZA's quality assurance policies (Criterion IS 2.4.1 of the SAAHE Standards for the Internal System).
2. The application of the principles expressed in the policies is set up in such a way that it is reviewable whether they have been correctly applied in the relevant UNIZA structures, objectives, processes, and rules. The UNIZA management is responsible for the validity and timeliness of the policies.
3. In formulating the policies, UNIZA has taken into account the following requirements:
 - a) consistency of the policies (interdependence without contradictions),
 - b) consistency with UNIZA's mission and the UNIZA Long-Term Plan,
 - c) formulation of the policies that could be accepted or adopted by stakeholders (partners) involved in the educational process or having a relevant impact on education and other creative activities.

Article 6

Declaration of the UNIZA Quality Assurance Policy

1. UNIZA accepts responsibility for the quality of education provided at all levels, which means that each member of the academic community, starting with the UNIZA management, is accountable for the quality of their work and its results, as well as for the improvement of their role – management staff, teachers, scientists/researchers, and other university employees with higher education occupying positions where higher education is required and who are employed by the university at fixed weekly working hours (the staff part of the academic community) and the students of the university (the student part of the academic community).

PART 4: PROCESSES OF THE INTERNAL QUALITY ASSURANCE SYSTEM AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ŽILINA

Article 14

Basic Areas of the IQAS UNIZA for Process Management

1. UNIZA has harmonized its IQAS UNIZA with respect to the key areas of the quality assurance system as well as for the needs of the procedural processing according to the requirement of the criterion 2.4.3 of the SAAHE Standards for the Internal System and has identified from the SAAHE Standards for IQAS the areas of Study Programme, Student, Teacher, Partner, Resource (material, information, financial) in accordance with Figure 2. The other core areas are the acquisition, processing and use of information and the monitoring of the internal quality assurance system. The area Teacher is linked with an important area of Habilitation and Inauguration Proceedings (Rights), which has also been processed within the IQAS UNIZA. An important part of the process processing is also the area of Activity of the Accreditation Board.
2. The processes are elaborated and made publicly available as part of the IQS UNIZA on the website <https://adonis.uniza.sk:8443/>.

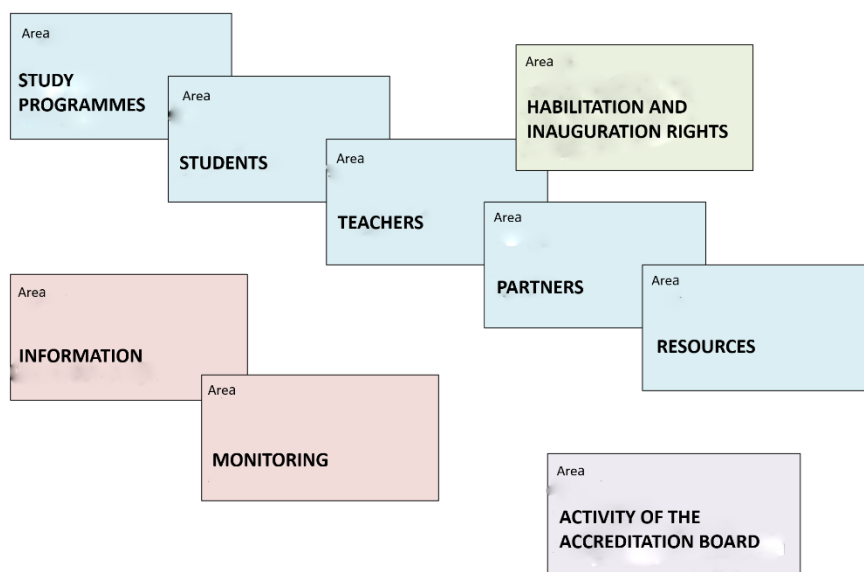

Figure 2: Key areas identified by the standards for process processing within the IQAS UNIZA

3. Determination of the ideal process flow results from the conducted analysis of the status of the existing IQAS UNIZA, comparison of the identified status with the requirements/criteria of the SAAHE Standards for the Internal System and implementation of measures for the harmonization of the IQAS UNIZA with these requirements. A description of the ideal course of the selected processes can be found in Appendix No. 3.
4. The rules enabling the harmonization of the IQAS are described in the relevant directives associated with the IQAS UNIZA processes.

Approach to the Definition of the IQAS UNIZA Processes

2. The processes in each area are defined in the paragraphs of Article 16 of this Directive and in the relevant figures. The letters indicated in the cells inside the tables represent activities and structures: 'R' stands for a person responsible for the implementation, 'A' approves the implementation, 'C' is to be consulted, 'I' is to be informed.

Article 16

Article 17

Processes of the Key Area of the IQAS UNIZA "Students"

1. UNIZA shall, through its website and other media, inform applicants on study opportunities at UNIZA, providing structured, objective, and complete information on the study programmes and the learning environment of UNIZA in a form suitable for different target groups of applicants, including those requiring a specific approach to information.
2. The admission procedure at UNIZA is managed through rules that ensure compliance with the basic requirements of adequacy of the assessment of eligibility for studies, fairness, transparency, objectivity and the avoidance of any discrimination or undue favouritism of applicants. The admission procedure ends with the enrolment of the admitted student.
3. By enrolling for studies, students are actively offered the opportunity to participate in the structures of the IQAS UNIZA and in elected and non-elected structures in which students are represented. At the same time, they have the opportunity to become members of student organisations focusing on sports, cultural and social activities of students.
4. The student prepares his/her own study plan, or in cooperation with the study programme advisor and the Department for Education, and according to his/her own focus uses the possibilities of selecting the learning paths that a particular study programme allows him/her, also by combining it with other study programmes.
5. The student develops his/her personality by completing educational activities and learning on his/her own, including the use of information and technical resources made available by UNIZA, while observing the principles of academic ethics and integrity. In developing his/her personality, he/she shall make appropriate use of the support provided by teachers and UNIZA.
6. If a student demonstrates that he/she has already acquired the required knowledge, skills and competences prior to taking a particular subject, for example by taking a course or relevant lifelong learning activity (e.g. by obtaining a certificate) at another school or accredited institution and at a different time, the subject guarantor, after verifying that the demonstrated acquired knowledge, skills and competences are in line with the requirements of the Course Information Sheet, will take into account these knowledge, skills and competences in the assessment of the student up to the level of recognition of the completion of the subject.
7. The UNIZA student is provided with all-round support throughout his/her life cycle through the support structures, in particular the provision of academic, career and psychological counselling, the easing of the administrative burden on students during admission, study and graduation, the provision of access to UNIZA's information services and products, and the support of the student's own initiatives.
8. The student is allowed to demonstrate the degree of achievement of the expected learning outcomes in the assessment. He/she receives feedback on his/her learning performance from the teacher through assessment, which not only assesses the level of mastery of the expected learning outcomes, but also takes into account the student's activity and independence and provides recommendations for further learning.
9. While studying, the student fulfils his/her obligations, which are administratively monitored by UNIZA through the earning of the required credits, which, combined with feedback from teachers, enables the tracking of his/her progress to the achievement of the expected learning objectives.

10. UNIZA ensures through policies, structures, and processes that students can seek protection of their rights and can point out and remedy any deficiencies. Similarly, a student's appeal against a decision or assessment of a student is reviewed in an orderly manner.
11. At the time of graduation, the student is expected to demonstrate, through the completion and defence of a final thesis and a state examination, the extent to which the student has achieved the expected learning outcomes.
12. After fulfilling all the prescribed conditions, the UNIZA student is awarded the relevant title and is issued with all other documents of the acquired education. UNIZA shall archive relevant data to prove the eligibility of the titles awarded.

UNIZA and its individual units shall identify potential partners who represent UNIZA's area of competence, individual fields of study, study programmes and are interested in supporting and participating in the fulfilment of UNIZA's objectives. The set of potential partners shall be approved by the dean of the faculty or, in the case of the university-wide study programmes, by the director of the institute or the rector. The most important thing is to determine the preliminary proposed form of cooperation and to designate a responsible person to communicate with the potential partner, who then approaches the partner for cooperation, and, in case of a positive response, they refine the form and scope of cooperation through communication, about which the responsible person informs the dean, the director of the institute or the rector on an ongoing basis.
4. If necessary, in order to demonstrate the credibility of UNIZA, the responsible person shall provide the partner with the UNIZA Long-Term Plan, policies and, where appropriate, other relevant documentation of UNIZA for quality assurance of education, or allow the partner to visit the partner on site where the partner can ascertain the facilities of the UNIZA environment and the functionality of the IQAS UNIZA.
5. The partner shall fulfil the cooperation with UNIZA in accordance with the scope specified in the framework agreement on cooperation, for example by joining UNIZA structures within the IQAS, by participating in the implementation of study programmes in an agreed form, by providing technological equipment or software, by providing feedback or by participating in research activities and in the organisation of professional events.
6. The cooperation with the partner is subject to review, and the review may include a list of the activities, outputs, and results of the cooperation, as well as the partner's opinion on the form and extent of the cooperation implemented. The implementation of the review is the responsibility of the Board of the Study Programme; the results of the review are approved by the dean of the faculty and, in the case of the university-wide study programmes, by the rector.
7. The outcome of the review of the faculty's cooperation with the partner may be a proposal to extend the cooperation, modification of the subject of cooperation, recommendations to make the cooperation more effective, as well as a decision to terminate the cooperation.

Processes of the Key Area of the IQAS UNIZA "Resources"

1. UNIZA divides the resources intended for the implementation of study programmes into financial resources, spatial resources, material, technical, personnel resources, information resources and supporting infrastructure resources.
2. The Board of the Study Programme shall determine the resource requirements related to the implementation of the study programmes. The deans of the faculties and the directors of the institutes shall ensure that the available resources and their use are recorded.
3. Requests for resources may be submitted by the Board of the Study Programme but also by the management staff of the faculty, e.g. heads of departments or directors of institutes. The need for renewal of resources may also be brought to the attention of faculty technical support.
4. The request for resources should include the assignment to a study programme, the specification of the resource, the intended location of the resource, and the request should also indicate the potential responsible person or persons responsible for the use of the planned resource.
5. The request for resources shall be approved by the dean of the faculty, or for the university-wide study programmes, by the rector after discussion in the Dean/Rector's Advisory Board and in consultation with the secretary of the faculty/bursar regarding the identification of options to cover the financial performance associated with the requirement to acquire and operate the resource.
6. Once the resource has been acquired and installed, the resource will be registered in the appropriate system and arrangements will be made to make it fully operational, which includes training the operator and designating a person responsible for the use of the resource (usually designated by the head of the relevant department or the Vice-dean for Education).
7. The Dean's Advisory Board will decide on the assignment of the resource to learning activities after considering the resource assignment requirements submitted by the Board of the Study Programme. In the case of requirements for use of a resource by more than one study programme, the Faculty Board of Guarantors shall submit the resource assignment requirements.
8. Information about the availability of the resource is provided in an appropriate form to all potential users of the resource, which is the responsibility of the dean of the faculty. Central information on UNIZA resources is provided by the UNIZA Information and Communication Technologies Centre.
9. The person responsible for the use of the resource conducts the necessary instruction and provides possible training of all its users.
10. When using the resource, all its users shall take care to use it economically. The person responsible for the resource shall ensure that maintenance of the resource is performed at a time and in a manner that minimally disrupts the planned educational activities associated with the resource. The person responsible for the use of the resource shall, in cooperation with the guarantor, address any malfunctioning of the resource in a manner that includes the replacement of any resulting disruption to the learning activities in which the resource was intended to be implemented during its malfunctioning.

11. A resource that is no longer to be used in the delivery of the educational process or in creative and other related activities is to be removed from the relevant availability records and its environmentally sound disposal or further meaningful use is to be arranged.
12. UNIZA shall endeavour to ensure that the resources used for the implementation of study programmes are accessible to persons with disabilities as well as to students with special needs. It provides support measures wherever possible in the university environment and for all resources, and purposefully creates an environment to equalise study opportunities for students with special needs. Similarly, UNIZA ensures that all resources that are arranged for use by persons with disabilities are identified and information on these resources is made appropriately accessible to these persons through the ICT Centre.

13. The processes of the 'Resources' area are shown in Table 5 with the relevant requisites:

6. Faculties shall adopt the internal quality assurance system of UNIZA by approving the documentation, respecting the approved internal regulations of UNIZA, but also their own specificities, which justify possible modifications and amendments.
7. Within the framework of the development and implementation of the internal quality assurance system, UNIZA has made every effort to de-bureaucratise and simplify access to information which includes the introduction of electronic documents and the automation of their flow.
8. The prerequisite for efficient creation of files and submission of requests for the harmonization, design, modification, and cancellation of study programmes, as well as the process of their approval within the processes of the UNIZA Accreditation Board, has been created, while reducing the likelihood of administrative failures.
9. Each UNIZA workplace must ensure that documented information (e.g. in the form of reports) on the compliance of the study programmes with the SAAHE Standards is submitted to the relevant structure for review.

Article 27

Sources of Monitoring and Evaluation of the Functionality and Effectiveness of the Internal Quality Assurance System at UNIZA

1. Monitoring the functionality of UNIZA requires working with information, therefore collecting, processing, analysing, and making information available is an integral part of the system for monitoring the functionality of UNIZA. The monitoring system is built on four basic pillars:
 - a) working with feedback from stakeholders,
 - b) systematic collection of information on changes in the internal and external environments affecting the study programmes and the IQAS UNIZA,
 - c) supervising compliance with rules and regulations,
 - d) evaluation of the fulfilment of objectives and trends through measurable indicators (the list and definition of indicators are elaborated in the Methodological Guideline: Indicators of the IQAS UNIZA and the Method of Their Evaluation).
2. Working with feedback – the means of obtaining feedback are surveys of UNIZA target groups, which are students (applicants, students, graduates), teachers, graduates, employers, partners. Accepted forms of obtaining feedback from target groups are feedback surveys in the form of questionnaires, targeted interviews with individuals and groups representing relevant stakeholders, suggestions made by individuals and groups of people from stakeholders. Feedback is always obtained after significant changes to the IQAS UNIZA, but at least every 2 years for each of the relevant stakeholders.
3. Systematic collection of information on changes in the external and internal environments is described in the Directive No. 217 and the Directive No. 218. The information gathering system shall respond in terms of timing, form, and content to the relevant needs of the stakeholders from whom the requested information is obtained. Part of the quality monitoring system is to oblige teachers to collect information, in addition to that already in place, for example information on the recognition equivalents (certificates) of the education in the subjects they teach, on the pedagogical and assessment methods they use in their subjects. The collection of information is an ongoing task for each individual and organisational unit of UNIZA.
4. The supervision of compliance with the rules and regulations defined in the internal regulations of UNIZA is ensured by all employees in managerial positions and the Control and Internal Audit Department, supplemented in the performance of supervision and monitoring by the UNIZA Quality Manager and representatives of relevant parties, especially students. The subject of this type of monitoring is primarily the implementation of planned educational activities, the management of the student life cycle from an administrative point of view, the efficient management of resources, compliance with academic ethics, the ascertainment of the values of specified measurable performance indicators, the verification of the timeliness and objectivity of published information, compliance with the conditions of accommodation for disadvantaged students, the fulfilment of contractual relations concluded with partners in connection with quality assurance, the extent of involvement of students and relevant stakeholders. The compliance with the rules and regulations is monitored at least once a year for each of the areas examined.
5. Evaluation of the fulfilment of the criteria of the SAAHE Standards is ensured by the Board of the Study Programme/Board of Guarantors, the subject of their monitoring being the completeness of the Course Information Sheets, the evaluation of the results of the measurable indicators, the evaluation of the appropriateness of the forms and methods of the educational process also on the basis of the results of the application of the active role of the student in learning, evaluation of trends in indicators (e.g. trends in applicants and admissions, enrolment of students in the SP, trends in student assessment results in relation to the achievement of expected learning outcomes, trends in student advancement to higher grades), the effectiveness of the link between science and research and education, changes in current knowledge, technological possibilities and the needs of society. Evaluation of the achievement of the standards shall take place at least once every two years.

6. The UNIZA Accreditation Board shall ensure through its activities that the content of the approved SP complies with the description of the field of study, taking into account trends in the field and their consideration in the modifications of study programmes, and shall also evaluate the fulfilment of the corrective measures imposed in connection with the submission of applications for approval of the harmonization, modification of a study programme or an application for approval of a new study programme.

Article 28

Measures in Case of Non-compliance of the Internal Quality Assurance System at UNIZA

1. Monitoring shall ensure that the commitment to compliance is fulfilled. Non-compliance is the result of non-compliance with regulations. Following the findings of the monitoring, a solution to the non-compliance and to the behaviour that potentially leads to non-compliance must be prepared.
2. The most common source of non-compliance is human behaviour. The types of employee behaviour contributing to non-compliance with the internal quality assurance system may include the following:
 - a) inconsistent familiarity with regulations and rules,
 - b) forgetfulness of a duty, for example due to negligence or overworking of the employee,
 - c) deliberate disregard of rules and regulations, for example because of a belief that they are unreasonable.
3. Preventive measures in place at UNIZA to prevent undesirable behaviour that may lead to non-compliance with the IQAS rules and regulations include:
 - a) specification of the responsibility for compliance within the job requirements,
 - b) the introduction of regular briefings and reminders of compliance obligations to students and UNIZA staff,
 - c) explaining the consequences of non-compliance with rules and regulations to students and staff through examples,
 - d) involving students and staff as widely as possible in drafting and commenting on rules and regulations so that they share their purpose,
 - e) ensuring that all students and staff have the opportunity to report violations of, or even concerns about violations of the rules and regulations and that they are appropriately protected as whistle-blowers.
4. When non-compliance is identified, it must be addressed and, where appropriate, steps must be taken to control and correct the non-compliance, depending on its severity. The UNIZA organisational unit that caused the non-compliance is to deal with the consequences by assessing the need for action to address the cause of the non-compliance and to ensure that it does not recur or occur elsewhere by investigating whether a similar non-compliance exists in another part of the IQAS UNIZA or may potentially occur.
5. The organisational unit with responsibility for the area in which the non-compliance has occurred shall ensure that effective measures are applied to address the non-compliance in real time and, where appropriate, highlight the need for changes to be made to the IQAS UNIZA or its unit.

Article 29

 - c) changes in the structure, needs and expectations of stakeholders that are relevant to the IQAS UNIZA,
 - d) changes in the legislation on which the IQAS UNIZA is based,
 - e) information from monitoring and measurement, including trends in indicators and the incidence of non-compliance,
 - f) the results of audits and external evaluations,
 - g) opportunities for continuous improvement.
3. The UNIZA management reviews and also assesses the adequacy of the policies, the independence of monitoring, the extent to which overall objectives are being met, the adequacy of resources, the existence of new threats and risks to quality, the level of denunciation and the appropriateness of the indicators assessed.
4. The results of the review by the UNIZA management include decisions regarding the imposition of improvement measures, the utilization of opportunities for continuous improvement and the identification of any need for change in the IQAS UNIZA.
5. The UNIZA management review shall take place at least once a year and shall be recorded.
6. When the review identifies a need for change in the IQAS UNIZA, the change shall be implemented in a planned manner, considering:
 - a) the purpose of the changes and their potential impact on stakeholders,
 - b) the extent of the interventions to the IQAS UNIZA in terms of interlinking documentation, processes, structures, and policies,
 - c) the availability of resources needed to implement the change.
7. A review of the IQAS UNIZA shall take place every four years or when major changes significantly affect the IQAS UNIZA.

Article 30

External Quality Assurance at UNIZA

1. As part of its efforts to improve the internal quality assurance system, UNIZA is also dedicated to gaining targeted inspiration from the environment of renowned and successful international universities through benchlearning.
2. In addition to the internal review, UNIZA shall also subject its IQAS UNIZA to an external review at least once every four years. This is done in an effort to objectify the internal review and in order to obtain further ideas for the improvement of the IQAS UNIZA.
3. The ideas obtained from the benchlearning and recommendations from the external review of the internal quality assurance system represent important inputs for the process of the improvement of the IQAS UNIZA.
